NEFF IS ABSOLVED OF ACCIDENT BLAME

Coroner's Jury Exonerates Driver of Car; Woman Was Killed

MRS. TROMBLEY DIED

An honorably discharged member of the U. S. Navy who was driving a tractor-trailer which struck an automobile and instantly killed a woman and fatally injured her husband, was absolved of all blame for the accident by a coroner's jury here last night.

The driver, Laverne A. Neff, 18, Spring Grove, York County, Pa., was exonerated after a coroner's jury had heard the testimony of Neff, Fred Waser, Manchester, Pa.; and State Trooper, Arner, South Langhorne Barracks, State Police.

Alfred J. Rigby, Bucks County Coroner, conducted the inquest in the Municipal Building and impaneled the following as a jury: Ralph Ratcliffe, foreman; Donald Moyer, James H. Brooks, Irvin Scheffey, George Brudon and Edward Dougherty.

The accident occurred at about 10.45 p. m., on January 15th, when the Lincoln Highway and other highways in this area were covered with ice. The scene was near Oxford Valley.

The victim was Mrs. Mary E. Trombley, who was killed instantly and her husband, L. L. Trombley, both of Pawtucket, R. I., who died later in a Trenton hospital.

The testimony of both Neff and Waser was that they were driving

CONSIDER SUITABLE MEMORIALS FOR 'VETS'

Committee Represents Various Organizations in Newtown Borough

SEVERAL PROPOSALS

NEWTOWN, Feb. 9—Committees representing various organizations in the borough will be appointed to investigate various projects to provide the town with a suitable war memorial. The decision to appoint these committees was reached at a meeting held in the fire house a few days ago, when various propositions were taken into consideration.

At present an honor roll is maintained in the offices of the Gaine-Murfit Chevrolet Company, and according to John Gaine, about 300 names are on the roll.

Possibilities of using the Keller building as a memorial were considered. Wallace G. Murfit told of some of the plans of the C. E. D. for aiding returned war veterans.

Harold Conrad, commander of Morrell Smith Post, American Legion, outlined plans the post had made for the purchase of a post home, but these, he said, have not as yet materialized.

Dr. A. J. Strathie called attention to the possibilities afforded by Newtown creek. He suggested a dam be rebuilt. This, he said, would provide swimming in the Summer and skating in the Winter, and at the same time give the town protection in case of fire.

Marvin V. Keller spoke of the need of an athletic field for the local schools, and Dr. William A. Roberts said such a field should be close to the school building to be of real service to the pupils.

Walter Dietz, Lindenhurst road, offered five acres for use as an athletic field without cost.

Word has been received by Mrs. Margaret Chambers, Washington street, that her son, Cpl. Frank Chambers, is now in the South Pacific.

Report on Cafeteria For The Month of January

HULMEVILLE, Feb. 9—The report for the Hulmeville-Middletown school cafeteria for the month of January shows that 1,277 lunches were prepared and served during that period. Of this number 250 were free.

There were 41 bottles of milk given to children who had taken sandwiches from home.

Volunteer workers served a total of 350 hours. The sum spent for food during January was $205; and $100 for paid workers. Equipment purchased cost $11.33.

The Parent-Teacher Association advanced $250 for operation of the cafeteria, the treasury to be reimbursed for this. From the U. S. government the sum of $115 was received toward cafeteria expenses.

It is hoped to continue the cafeteria during March, provided sufficient volunteers can be secured to aid in the work. Those willing to help in this manner are asked to telephone Mrs. Louis Goll, Hulmeville.

CANADIANS REACH POINT 5 MILES FROM CLEVE

Paris—The Canadian First Army, scoring gains of almost three miles from jump-off points in the eastern Netherlands in a new large-scale offensive against the Nazi Westwall, drove today to within five miles of Cleve, northern anchor of the Siegfried Line.

The British-supported Canadian troops in their smash into the Reichswald Forest in Germany captured seven towns in the initial phase of the onslaught aimed at unhinging the northern end of the Siegfried fortifications. The farthest point of penetration officially revealed at headquarters carried the Canadians into the town of Kranenburg, five miles west of Cleve.

At least 1,000 Germans were taken prisoner as the Canadians and British troops surged ahead along a five mile front in the Reich Forest area southeast to Nijmegan, Holland.

The attack was declared at Supreme Headquarters to be progressing well.

USE 'BLOCK BUSTERS' TO CUT NAZI ESCAPE ROUTE

Rome—British-manned American Liberator bombers, in one of the largest formations employed by the RAF in the Mediterranean, dropped two-ton blockbusters last night on the Italian terminal of the rail lines through the Brenner Pass at Verona, headquarters announced today.

The object was to cut the German escape route into the southern Reich. Hard fighting raged meanwhile in the Serchio Valley area where troops of the American Fifth Army battled against a German counter-attack north of Gallicano.

ARE GERMANS PEOPLE?

Very few Americans will be misled into thinking that any mere international league of armies can maintain world peace.

Beyond and above any such alliance of world powers, to be enduring, must be very definite concepts of world brotherhood—of the independence and the integrity of all nations, whether large or small.

For the strong nations to agree to protect the weak is something far different than for the strong to attempt to exploit the weak—to assume that armies and navies are more potent forces over human reactions than sentiments of justice and fair play.

Justice between nations, as sometimes between men, is often only a second choice for the exceedingly strong.

Only upon the basis that there should and can be a true world-wide brotherhood of nations can there ever be built a lasting peace.

A purely military alliance could be created, of course, so powerful that no combination of smaller nations could resist it.

But the inevitable sequel would be a breaking down within the alliance.

This could hardly be better illustrated than by the divergences and frictions now becoming more conspicuous among the members of the most successful military alliances in history—that of Great Britain, Russia and the United States.

It is precisely on the lack of a mutually acceptable aim for post-war fraternity among nations that the present Allied alliance has stumbled repeatedly—just as the preceding alliance of World War I broke apart upon this very same question: the willingness of each nation to curb its own demands for the common welfare of all.

There is a single question which will shed penetrating light upon all proposals for lasting peace which will rise out of the present conversations of the leaders of the world powers.

That is the question of what each plan expects to do about the German people.

President Roosevelt's own proposals, direct and indirect, have run the full gamut.

At a most inappropriate moment he permitted the release of the Morgenthau plan to de-industrialize the German people—to give them a status of prisoners running a farm.

The far extreme was the adoption by the President, during the stress of last Fall's campaign, of the Wilsonian concept that the German people themselves are good enough people—that it is only their rulers and generals we are fighting.

It was said during the campaign, and there seems little reason to doubt it, that the inability of President Roosevelt to hit upon an acceptable policy for dealing with the Germans has prolonged the war.

Certainly it is clear that the insistence on "unconditional surrender" simply means that the Allies are not certain what they can agree upon as a post-war policy for these people.

Yet, unless the German people are to be wiped out like Carthage, we must face a post-war era in which they will be part of the world family.

They can't conceivably be kept indefinitely in the role of step-children.

This is not to say that the problem is an easy one.

BUCKS CO. PUREBRED COWS LEAD IN STATE

1944 Performance is Admirable; 2,420 Herds Under Test

NESHAMINY IS HIGH

Bucks County purebred dairy cows led the entire state in performance during 1944, according to William H. Greenawalt, Bucks County agriculture agent. Furthermore Pennsylvania led the entire nation in D. H. I. A. work with 116 associations, Mr. Greenawalt states.

The county agent also reports that a total of 2420 herds were under test, and these herds comprised a total of 67,671 cows. Each cow averaged 8,674 pounds of milk and 347.8 pounds of butterfat for the year. Tabulations show that 38,162 cows produced over 300 pounds of butterfat and 9,633 averaged over 400 pounds of fat.

The Neshaminy Farms, of Newtown, had the State's highest herd in the Ayrshire breed. There the herd of 85 cows, milked twice a day, averaged 9,462 pounds of milk and tested 4.38 per cent butterfat. The average butterfat production was 414.6 pounds.

In the same herd, "Penshurst Pen Mar," a six-year-old cow, placed second for the state in individual production. Only one other Ayrshire cow, in Franklin county, bettered her mark of 12,732 pounds of milk and 608.4 pounds of butterfat for the D. H. I. A.

First place among the purebred Guernsey individual records went to "Evergreen's Hopeful Rilma," owned by Philip W. Smith, of New

Explosions Bury 2 Pieces of Fire Apparatus in Blaze

Chicago—Explosions which rocked the neighborhood and buried two pieces of fire apparatus razed the $600,000 Vierling steel works today as firemen vainly sought to stem a blaze in which it was feared two persons died. Robert L. Vierling, secretary of the concern, told fire officials the plant was operating on a 24-hour basis fulfilling a huge army order for parts for portable invasion bridges. The fire marshal predicted no bodies would be found if any employes failed to escape.

College Heads Urge Universal Training

Washington—The heads of fourteen of the nation's outstanding universities and colleges wrote President Roosevelt today that if a "sound plan" for universal training was adopted now it would "enable the U. Gates of the University of Pennsylvania, William Mather Lewis, Lafayette College, and Levering Tyson, Muhlenberg College.

SPEAKERS TELL OF NEED FOR GRAPHIC ARTS IN INDUSTRY

John Gonzales and William Couse Address Local Rotarians

PURPOSE PRESENTED

Representatives of Fleetwings, Inc., Tell of Work

Two representatives of Fleetwings, Inc., John Gonzales and William Couse, addressed members of Bristol Rotary Club on the subject, "The Need For Graphic Arts in Industry," when the club met in the Elks' Home yesterday afternoon.

Gonzales, who is a national authority on the subject, told the Rotarians that the use of graphic arts in production has resulted in tremendous savings in space, time and manpower.

"The main purpose of the work," he declared, "is an interpretation between the engineering department and 'green' labor, or the persons who cannot read blueprints.

"Pictures are drawn in three dimensions and this helps the worker to better visualize the part or product to be made. These drawings show immediately a complete description of the part needed.

"In a set of tests that was conducted a crew of experienced men were furnished with blueprints of a certain part to be made and a crew of inexperienced men were furnished with a graphic drawing of the same part, and it was found that the latter crew did the work in just one-third of the time of the first crew.

"An 'exploded' view of a complete aircraft is first made and then each part is broken down individually. The savings in time, space and manpower justifies the time spent many times over."

Mr. Couse pointed out that the first step in the production program is to determine what tools will be needed, and then to determine what parts can be made in our own plant. A breakdown is then made for each part of the ship. The inspection department uses these

WHAT OUR BOYS ARE DOING TO WIN THE WAR

AN AIR SERVICE COMMAND STATION, Somewhere in England, Feb. 9—S/Sgt. Claude Camilucci, the son of Alexander Camilucci, of 1008 Wood street, Bristol, Pa., recently enjoyed a "recess" from aerial warfare at an Air Service Command Rest Home—a remodeled English manor house where America's airmen who provide aerial cover for the advancing Allied Armies in Germany may relax between missions.

Here, S/Sgt. Camilucci put on sports clothes and lounged in the restful atmosphere of an old country home complete with butler, tea in bed, and every type of recreational facility. American atmosphere, and all the touches of "home" are provided by the American Red Cross, co-partners with the Air Service Command in the operation of the Rest Home. After seven days he went back to his combat station ready to play his part once again in the air battle supporting the Allied march across Germany.

S/Sgt. Camilucci has completed 29 missions over Nazi-dominated Europe. Before entering the Army he was employed as a riveter and assembler by the Division of Kaiser Cargo Co.

ISLANDS FOR BASES

A question the American people must eventually decide has been pushed further into the limelight by Artemus L. Gates, assistant secretary of the Navy for air, who has been visiting the fighting fronts in the Pacific. Returning to Pearl Harbor, Mr. Gates has declared that the United States must keep "permanent bases" in the Marianas after the war.

The question thus emphasized has already been raised. Several days ago Chairman Vinson of the House Naval Affairs Committee announced that a subcommittee would soon begin studying Japanese-mandated islands in the Pacific with a view toward their "permanent acquisition." In due course the American people will be asked to approve steps in this direction.

It is noteworthy that neither Mr. Vinson nor Mr. Gates made any mention of the Atlantic Charter in discussing this matter. They said nothing about consulting the "freely expressed wishes" of the inhabitants of these islands in proceeding to acquire them and nothing on the score of whether "aggrandizement, territorial or other" is involved. The point they consider important is that the United States must have a forward base in the Pacific, near Japan and Asia, in order to keep the peace in the Far East.

Very likely most Americans will agree that security considerations should come first and that the principles of the Atlantic Charter should be flexible enough to permit a practical solution of the problem. The strange thing is that Americans are less impressed when other nations think along the same lines. Perhaps such issues should be viewed in broader perspective.

FLIERS' FOOD

A new four-ounce package of food for fliers has been described by the Army Quartermaster Depot in Chicago. It contains fudge, gum, chocolate drops and chocolate-coated peanuts. Because of quick release of energy that follows consumption of this ration, it is counted upon to add 5,000 feet to the altitude fliers may reach without use of oxygen masks.

All airmen with missions of three hours or more are to be supplied with this package, which can be opened with one heavily mittened hand. A "box and sleeve" container was developed, colored red, white and blue to make the package easily identifiable in a dark, crowded plane. When opened and held up, the box practically feeds its contents into the mouth of the pilot.

It is asserted that the new ration will keep for years without deteriorating and that it can withstand 160 degrees above and 66 degrees below zero temperatures and humidity ranging to 90 per cent. It is another contribution to victory made by American ingenuity.

History records many unusual incidents, but lists only one statesman—Daniel Webster—who offered to pay off the national debt.

ARE GERMANS PEOPLE?

It is not. Aggravating it are complex motives of revenge and jealousy.

Yet it must be solved if there is to be world peace.

And in the attempts to solve it, the lesser nations of the world can read the guise in which post-war peace will be presented.

If Germany is to be partitioned, what small nation can be sure of its own autonomy — should a powerful neighbor some day envy its riches and find an excuse?

If Germany is to be dominated by spheres of influence, so then are all the other lesser nations.

If Germany is to be reduced to a slave state — the hired hand of Europe—can other nations expect to preserve their own self-respect when their interests run counter to those of more powerful rivals?

This is no defense of Germany. The German people had a pretty good idea what Hitler proposed to do when he was asking them to place the nation's power and resources in his hands.

And despite a lot of wishful thinking, there is no particular reason to feel that the German people have lost their "master-race" complex.

But the Germans happen to be this generation's horrible example of the uncurbed nationalism which has led many another race in the past into terrible excesses—and which may easily find other and different examples in the future.

The German problem is so challenging to the planners of peace, not because of what the Germans have done in the past, but because of what other nations may be tempted to do in the future.

If President Roosevelt can find a suitable and acceptable role for the German people after the war, lasting peace may be in sight; if he has no answer but force, the future is dubious.

Re: Petition of Antonio Cullurra and Francesco Cullurra to validate tax title.

To Eva King, or if she be deceased, to Silas King and any other devisees or heirs at law of Eva King, deceased, if any there be, and generally to all persons interested:

You are hereby notified that on the 5th day of February, A. Whereupon, said Court granted a rule upon said Eva King, or if she be deceased, upon Silas King and any other devisees and heirs at law of Eva King, deceased, if any there be, and generally upon all other persons not named in said petition who have or claim to have any right, title or interest or claim against said premises, to appear within sixty days from the service of said rule and show cause why the title of the petitioners to said premises should not be adjudicated and decreed valid and indefeasible as against all rights or claims whatsoever, said rule to be returnable on Monday, the 16th day of April, A. D. 1945.

You are hereby notified that if you or any of you have any cause to show why the title of the petitioners as aforesaid should not be adjudicated and decreed valid and indefeasible as against all rights or claims whatsoever, you should make known such cause on or before said date, Monday, the 16th day of April, A. Today's Quiet Moment

By Rev. I. L. Clark, Th. M.
Pastor
First Baptist Church

In the ascription of praise offered to Thee, dear God, by the seraphim we address Thee this twilight hour: Holy Father, Holy Son our Saviour, and Holy Spirit our indwelling Comforter, Thou Lord of hosts: the whole earth is full of thy glory.

We praise Thee because thou art the same yesterday, today, and forever; Thy years fail not. We came to thee yesterday for grace and mercy: we received the same; today we can approach Thee and receive again; tomorrow and each succeeding day with our little cups we can come to thy ocean of love to fill our hearts but never able to empty thy boundless deep. Cause thy people to come more often. In our wilderness experience thou hast prepared a table before us. Like the Shepherd of old, each evening thou annointest our heads with oil, causing our cups to run over. How many are there, O Lord, who are empty and bruised only because they have not come unto thee through Jesus Christ, the Crucified One. We pray that they might come to thee and be saved and healed. In the name of Jesus Christ we ask this. Amen.

SPARROWS SECURE FIRST-HALF HONORS

The Fleetwings Sparrows won the first-half championship of the Trenton Girls' Playground League by defeating the Majorettes, the defending champions, 36-33, in a thrilling contest on the Junior No. 4 floor, Trenton.

The Sparrows went to work on the Majorettes early in the game as Marion Gillenwater dropped in three successive foul goals. The Wingers piled up a 9-4 lead at half-time.

The Trenton girls rallied in the second period and shaved the lead to 13-11 at half-time and going into the final period, the Bristol girls still held a slight lead, 21-20. But in the final quarter, Betty Duffy, Gillenwater, and Walterick hit the cords with amazing accuracy while the Trenton forwards kept in the game by getting their share of points.

Duffy led the Bristol scorers with 14 points while Gillenwater had 13 tallies, including seven foul goals. Barber was high scorer for the Majorettes with 14 points.

FLEETWINGS TO MEET NAVY YARD TONIGHT

The Fleetwings Arrows will meet the Philadelphia Navy Yard five tonight on the high school floor. In the preliminary game, the Fleetwings Sparrows, who were crowned the first-half champions of the Trenton Girls' League, will play the SPARS, of Philadelphia. Opening tap-off takes place at 7:30 o'clock.

Bristol High will be in action at Cornwells Heights, where the varsity and junior varsity teams meet Bensalem Township High School in Lower Bucks County League games.

Bristol is leading the circuit with two wins and without a defeat. A triumph for the Bunnies tonight will put them in a position where they will practically have the championship in the bag. However, Jack Hansen and his cohorts are hard to beat on their own floor and a close game is expected.

Coach Harold Stackhouse will use his same starting lineup of DiAngelo, Collins, Embessi, Mandio and Oriola.

Some important measures affecting the interests of Pennsylvania's sportsmen, which have been introduced at the current session of the General Assembly at Harrisburg: House Bill No. 1: would amend the Anti-Pollution Stream Law of 1937 to include coal silt as "industrial waste" and coal operators as subject to the law. It would require that discharge of waste cease immediately without notice from the Sanitary Water Board.

House Bill No. 125: would amend Section 1101 of the Game Code and provides that the Commission shall pay a bounty of four dollars for each gray fox and four dollars for each red fox killed in the entire Commonwealth. The effect will be to take the regulatory responsibility on fox bounties out of the hands of the Game Commission.

House Bill No. 228: This Bill would amend Section 285 of the Fish Code by removing the necessity for the Board of Fish Commissioners to obtain the consent of the Governor for the purchase of lands and waters for fish, hunting and forest purposes.

Senate Bill No. 104: would provide that the Game Commission include in its migratory bird season recommendations to the United States Department of the Interior for the current year, that a 1945 open season for doves be declared for the counties lying in Southeastern Pennsylvania on an experimental basis during the regular upland small game season.

Bleeding Germany Reels Under Allies' Assaults

fensive aimed at the northern anchor of the Westwall.

Moving up behind tank spearheads and flame-throwers, the British and Canadians met opposition ranging from light to stiff in various sectors. The drive, officially termed an offensive, followed an 11-hour artillery bombardment and fierce air assaults.

Unconfirmed reports said advanced spearheads had smashed ahead as much as two miles in the drive from the eastern Netherlands.

The push, launched from attack positions in mid-morning yesterday, followed the pattern of offensive tactics employed by Field Marshal Sir Bernard L. Montgomery, whose 21st Army group command includes the First Canadian Army.

Artillery pounded at the Nazi positions from five in the morning until four in the afternoon after British heavy bombers smashed at the key points of Goch and Cleve, northern bastions of the Siegfried Line.

As Zhukov plunged forward in an area 30 miles from Berlin, Moscow announced the new Soviet drive across northeastern Germany which threatened to isolate Stettin and outflank Berlin to the north, trapping hundreds of thousands of Nazi troops in northeastern Germany and the Polish Corridor.

To the south of Zhukov's mighty central offensive, Marshal Ivan S. Konev's First Ukrainian Army swept up to 25 miles west of the breached Oder southeast of the Silesian capital of Breslau in a drive threatening Berlin from the rear.

Meanwhile, fresh waves of Allied bombers were reported operating over the Reich in daylight again today, with Nazi broadcasts warning of formations over and approaching western Germany. British heavy bombers last night blasted the German synthetic oil plant at Politz, only four miles north of Stettin.

In the Philippines, Hitler's tattered Axis partner fought back at American airborne troops and infantrymen mopping up snipers and roving bands of Japs in the southern section of still-burning Manila.

In the face of mortar and machinegun fire, elements of the veteran 37th Infantry Division in "ducks" and other amphibious vehicles stormed across the bridgeless Pasig River, which bisects Manila, to join with units of the 11th Airborne Division south of the stream.

As the Philippines capital presented a panorama of smoke, fires and burned-out buildings, General Douglas MacArthur announced that more than 48,000 casualties have been inflicted on the Japanese since the Luzon invasion began a month ago today.

drawings and if the parts do not match the drawings exactly they are not passed.

Most of the men in the graphic arts department are men with sales and advertising experience, according to Gonzales. This same department also makes charts showing the various component parts and these charts are matched against charts of previous reports. This method saves much valuable time for busy executives.

At the conclusion of the talks Gonzales and Couse answered questions for the Rotarians.

Neff is Absolved Of Accident Blame

a tractor-trailer, going east on the Lincoln Highway. The Trombley car was traveling west behind a truck. The driver of the Trombley car, said to have been Mr. Trombley, according to the witnesses, pulled out around the truck and in attempting to get back into the proper traffic lane skidded across the highway into the truck Neff was operating.

Neff told the jury he turned his tractor into the bank on the side of the road and that the trailer jack-knifed.

Waser told the jury that he and Neff were going about 20 miles per hour and had just put the truck into third gear. He said the Trombley car hit the front end.

Waser told the jury that the body of the woman was found on the opposite side of the road from that on which the body of her husband was found. The woman was dead but the husband was conscious and asked Waser: "How's my wife?" Waser said he replied: "She's all-right and being taken care of."

The driver of a truck following in back of the Trombley car was quoted by Waser as saying that he saw the stop light on the Trombley car go on and it was presumed that Trombley applied his brakes suddenly on the ice-covered roadway and threw the car into a skid.

Neff said he and Waser were alternating as drivers and that he had never had an accident before. He told the jury he was honorably discharged from the U. S. Navy. He was represented by John P. Betz, Esq.

State Trooper Arner told of his investigation of the accident being accompanied to the scene by Trooper Sauer. He said the roadways were covered with ice.

The jury's verdict was that Mrs. Mary E. Trombley met her death due to the car in which she was riding skidding into a truck.

children at College Park.

Harkins has been employed as a fireman at the Hunter plant since 1943. He is engaged on the 12 midnight to eight a. m. shift.

Just what caused the accident at three o'clock is undetermined. Hunter Corp. officials state that Harkins was evidently working at the boiler in the local plant when he suffered his severe burns. The only other person in the plant at the time was a guard, who hurried to Harkins' aid. Placing a coat about the victim, he quickly extinguished the flames. Bucks Co. Rescue Squad ambulance was summoned and Harkins was removed to the Wagner private hospital, Bristol, then to Abington Hospital.

No equipment or any part of the boiler room were ignited by the flames, it is stated.
